HumanCare Russia

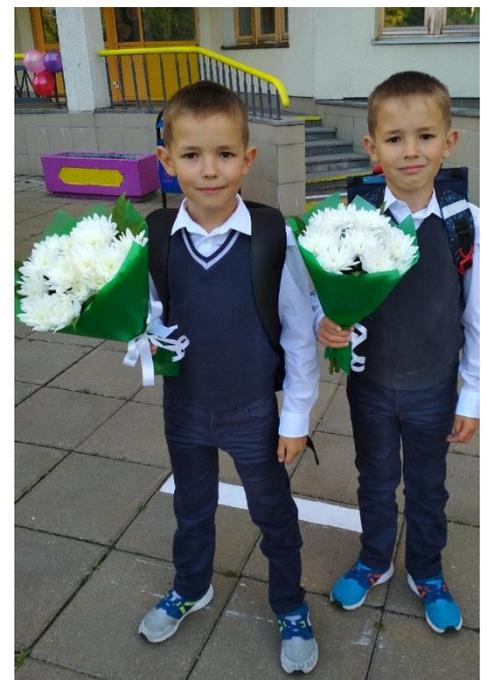

December 2019

November-December 2020

We wish you a wonderful Christmas time

In October we got a letter from Moscow with greetings from Fr. Pavel, Irina and several families from the congregation with photos. This photo is Tanyas 2 sons with flowers.

Irina and father Pavel tell us that the situation in Moscow is worsening, with the peak of the pandemic expected in mid-November. Irinas family, together with Father Pavel, is fine for now. But fr. Pavel is on self-isolation again. We hope it gets better soon after the peak. We will visit them, when it is possible again.

What I personally have always been happy about at HumanCare Russia, which was the reason I went into the work, is that you donate directly and not through some unknown intermediaries.

Families in the congregation

The Russians love their children. They often do without things themselves to make sure that their children get the best conditions for growing up and get a good education. Education in particular is more expensive in Russia than in Denmark. And education is the way out of poverty. To meet the different needs, parents sometimes have to have more than one job at a time. They desperately need support. HCR wants to support a number of families. Here are pictures of some of them.

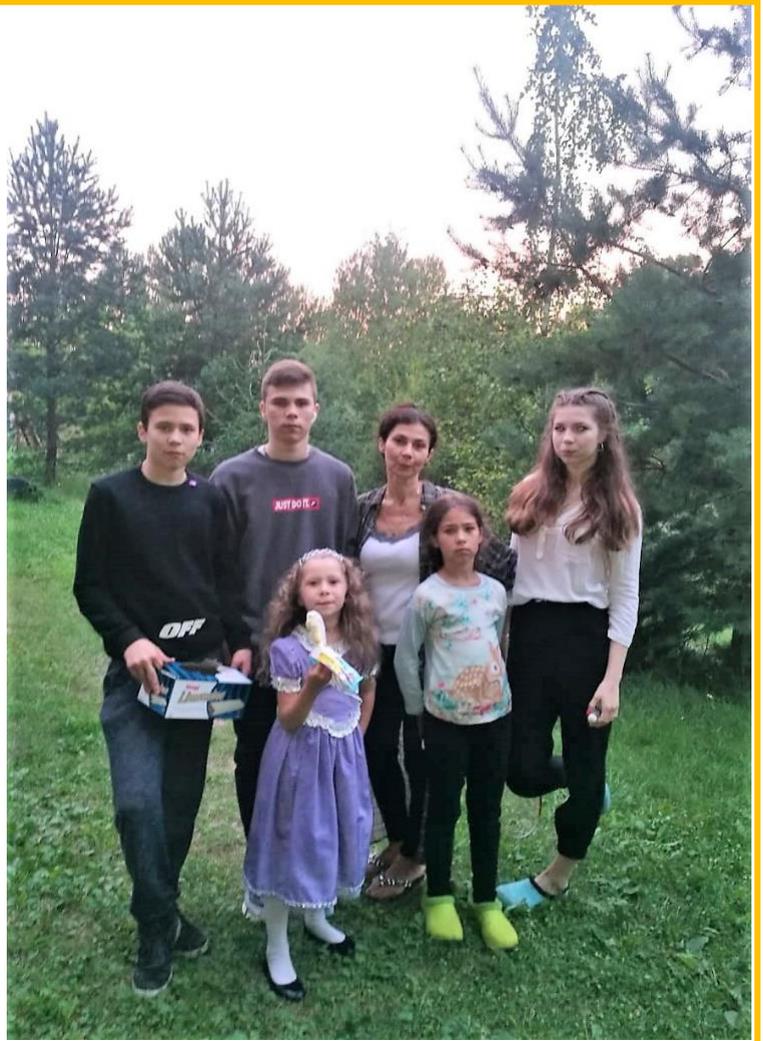

Tanya Vyglezhanova has three sons. She has been in the congregation for a very long time. She helps Father Pavel a lot. She is divorced. The children are raised only by Tanya herself. Her parents help a little. But it is difficult to get money to suffice for all necessities, rent, food etc.

Sveta Atroshenko is a widow with 5 children Kolya, Nastya, Danya, Liza and Olya Korotkov

She has no ordinary work, but one-time part-time jobs. Otherwise she gets some moderate benefits and charity assistance. This family needs help,

Also families with both mother and father need help, if they have many children.

Family of Secrets. Children Sasha, Misha, Nastya, Vanya.

The Kulakovi-family with four children.

We also want to send a donation to Olga and Ilya Korshunovs, who have five children.

Malevich family with four children. They also want to give their children the best conditions for growing up.
